Japanese reading club report 2025

Prepared by: Mais Dabour

Introduction

“Meaningful learning extends beyond traditional academic methods; it flourishes when reading becomes an enjoyable, shared experience.”

This report provides a comprehensive overview of the Reading Club's activities, objectives, and achievements throughout 2025. The Club is an independently led initiative, founded and managed by its creator, and has evolved through sustained personal effort and dedicated commitment.

The report systematically outlines the Club’s work during the year, highlighting the reading themes addressed, the educational methodologies applied, and the progress achieved through regular sessions and active participant engagement. It also reflects the Club’s role as a self-directed educational and cultural initiative that fosters learning through reading and encourages meaningful intellectual exchange.

Intended for members, participants, and relevant stakeholders, this report serves as a formal record documenting both the qualitative and quantitative aspects of the Club’s development and impact over the course of the year.

Introduction

The Reading Club was launched on September 11, 2024, driven by a strong belief that meaningful learning extends beyond traditional, rigid academic methods. The club was founded on the concept of learning through reading as an engaging and enjoyable approach, rather than a strictly structured or textbook-based one.

The club adopts an interactive and flexible style, where texts are read primarily for enjoyment and comprehension, followed by guided discussions that encourage reflection, idea exchange, and confidence-building in language use.

This approach creates a supportive learning environment, allowing participants to progress at their own pace and engage with reading in a stress-free manner.

Since its establishment, the Reading Club has grown into more than a reading space. Independently led and developed through individual initiative, it has become a learning community that brings together individuals who share a passion for reading and self-development, promotes reading as both a source of enjoyment and knowledge, and fosters meaningful connection and collective growth.

Club Working Mechanism

The Japanese Reading Club follows a structured yet flexible learning approach focused on guided reading and active participation. The club organizes regular reading sessions, held either in-person or online, depending on circumstances.

Each session is based on a carefully selected Japanese text, chosen and prepared by the club organizer according to Tadoku reading levels and participants' JLPT proficiency levels. Preparation includes identifying key vocabulary and essential language points to support comprehension.

During sessions, texts are read collaboratively, followed by guided explanations emphasizing vocabulary, basic grammar, and overall meaning rather than direct translation. Participants are encouraged to ask questions and share insights, fostering an interactive and supportive learning environment.

The club also incorporates simple reading-based activities to reinforce learning. Outside the sessions, participants are encouraged to continue independent reading to support consistent language development.

Core Objectives

The Reading Club’s flexible and interactive approach is designed to achieve its core objectives. By combining guided discussions with enjoyable reading, participants engage with texts at their own pace, reflect on ideas, and build confidence. This mechanism ensures that learning is meaningful and sustainable while fostering a supportive environment that encourages growth and participation.

Cultural Enrichment

The club exposes participants to diverse texts and stories, encouraging an appreciation for literature, culture, and the nuances of language. Members learn to understand different perspectives, broadening their cultural awareness and connecting with ideas from around the world.

Learning Community

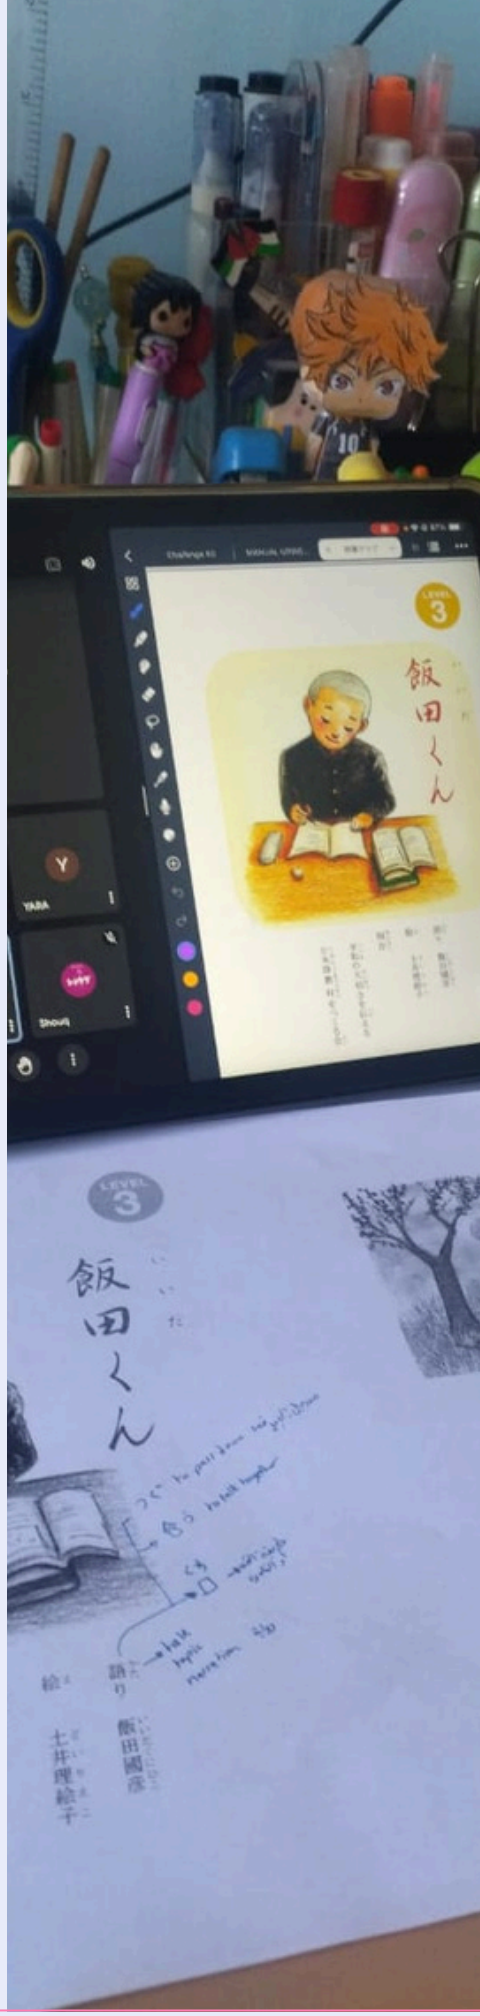
The club fosters a supportive environment where members share ideas, reflect on readings, and encourage each other. It promotes independent learning habits, a love for reading, and collaboration, creating a sense of belonging and collective growth.

Language Development

Reading sessions and discussions enhance comprehension, vocabulary, and communication skills. Participants gain confidence in using language practically and naturally, building a strong foundation for ongoing linguistic growth.

First Quarter Activities (Q1)

This section of the report details all sessions conducted between January 1st and March 31st. It includes a comprehensive list of the texts read, their sources, and their respective Japanese language proficiency levels.



First Quarter Activities (Q1)

January _ February

During January and February, the club was temporarily closed for organizational restructuring and academic commitments. This period was used for planning, content review, and aligning the reading program with Tadoku and JLPT levels.

March

From March 5 to April 5, a series of weekly evening reading sessions was conducted to read the story Iida-kun (飯田くん). The sessions were held during the holy month of Ramadan before iftar, with the series concluding after the end of the holy month.

March

Text Level:
Tadoku classification: Level 3
Japanese-Language Proficiency Test level: N4
Work Overview: This is a true story based on the real-life experience of Iida Kunihiko, a survivor of the atomic bombing. The story conveys the pain and suffering caused by war and highlights the importance of peace.

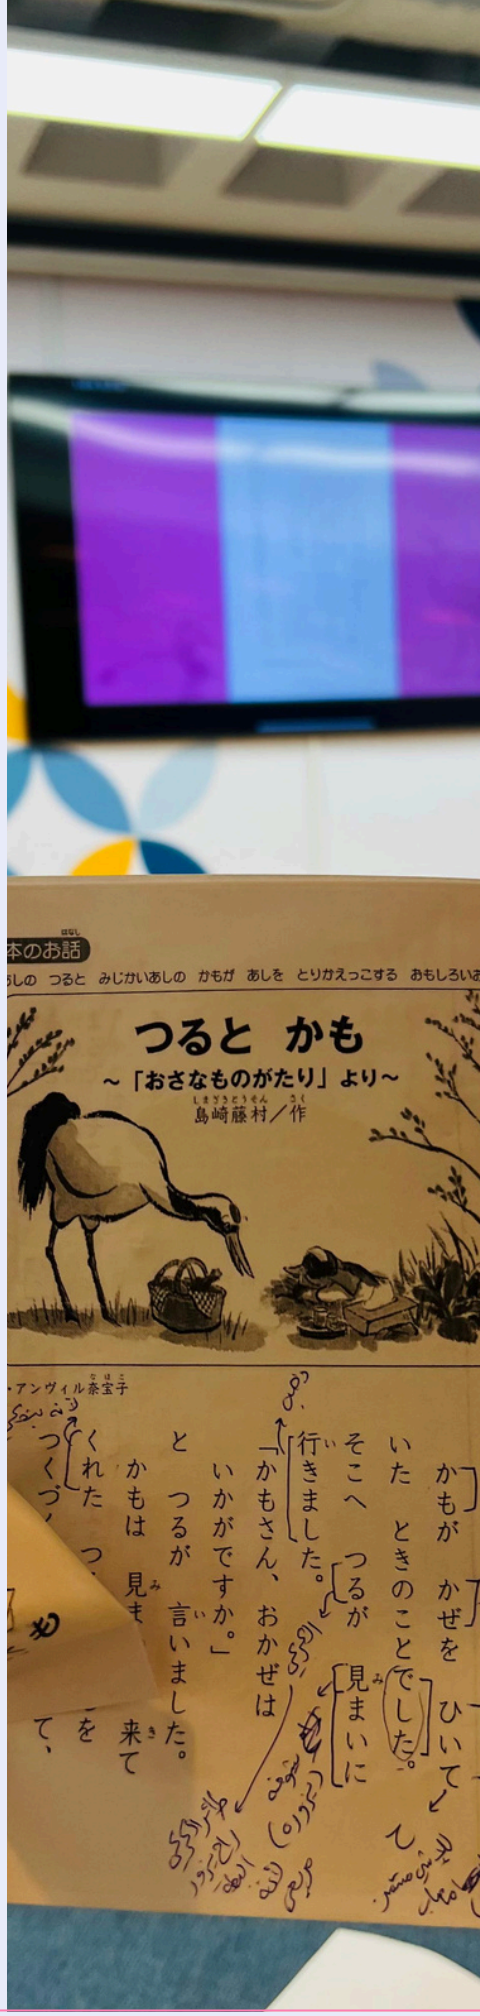
Second Quarter Activities (Q2)

This section of the report details all sessions conducted between 1st and June 30th. It includes a comprehensive list of the texts read, their sources, and their respective Japanese language proficiency levels.



Second Quarter Activities (Q2)

April

Until April 5, the club completed the reading of Iida-kun.
Following this, the reading sessions transitioned to Why? How Come? Science Stories (Grade 3), focusing on the topic "The Human Body", specifically the text titled:
"Why Do Our Hands Become Wrinkled When We Take a Bath?"
This session, held on April 12, presented a new challenge for participants, as it marked the first time the club explored a scientific text within its reading program. The discussion introduced scientific vocabulary and concepts in an accessible reading format.

April

On April 19, a simplified text was selected from the Morning 5-Minute Drill series, titled "I Love Soccer" (Grade 2). This reading was intentionally chosen as lighter and less demanding content, allowing participants to consolidate their reading confidence before moving on to a new challenge.

Subsequently, the club began reading the first chapter of the manga The Villain's Day Off, a reading project that continued until May 17.

Second Quarter Activities (Q2)

May

During May, the club concluded the reading of the first chapter of the manga. This was followed by a dedicated session on May 24, focusing on a recap of the manga content and a review of the new vocabulary acquired throughout the reading period.

May (In-Person Session)

On May 10, the club held its first in-person reading session at the Abdul Hameed Shoman Library, providing an opportunity for face-to-face group interaction and the introduction of open sessions that included both male and female participants.

May (In-Person Session)

During this session, participants read Shinji Pad's Adventure – The Adventures of Sinbad from the book 10-Minute Classic Stories, a text designed for second-grade readers.
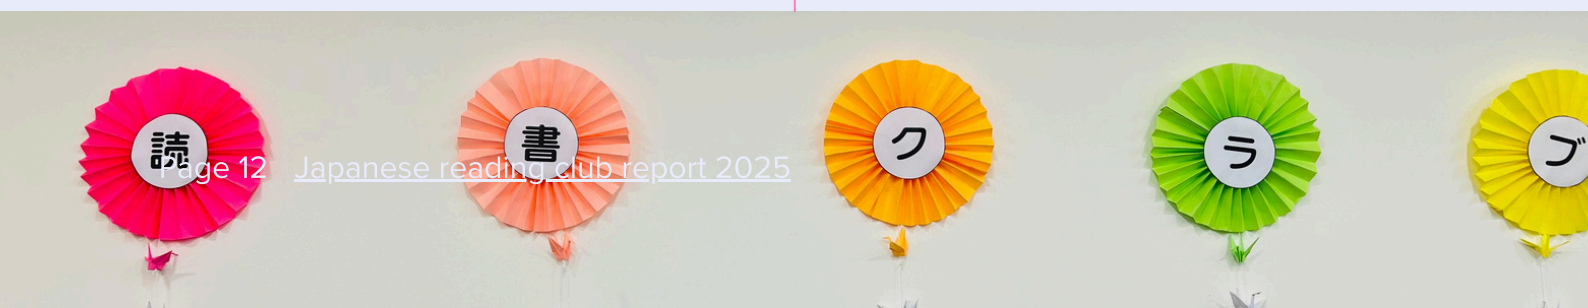
The session was further enriched by the presence of several Japanese friends, as well as a special attendance by the Cultural Attaché, adding a valuable cultural dimension to the event.



Second Quarter Activities (Q2)

June

On June 19, the club began reading the folktale Issun-bōshi.
However, due to the approaching JLPT examination period, the review session was postponed until September 6.
During this interim period, participants read a text from Dekiru Nihongo: Yonde Tanoshimu (できる日本語 読んで楽しむ) on June 28, prior to the temporary suspension of club activities in preparation for the exams.

June (In-Person Session)

On June 21, the club held its second in-person session, during which participants read
The Crane and the Duck (つるとかも) from the book 10-Minute Short Stories, designed for second-grade readers.
The session featured a shared reading experience followed by an engaging group discussion. To conclude the activity, thematic souvenir stickers inspired by the story were distributed to participants.

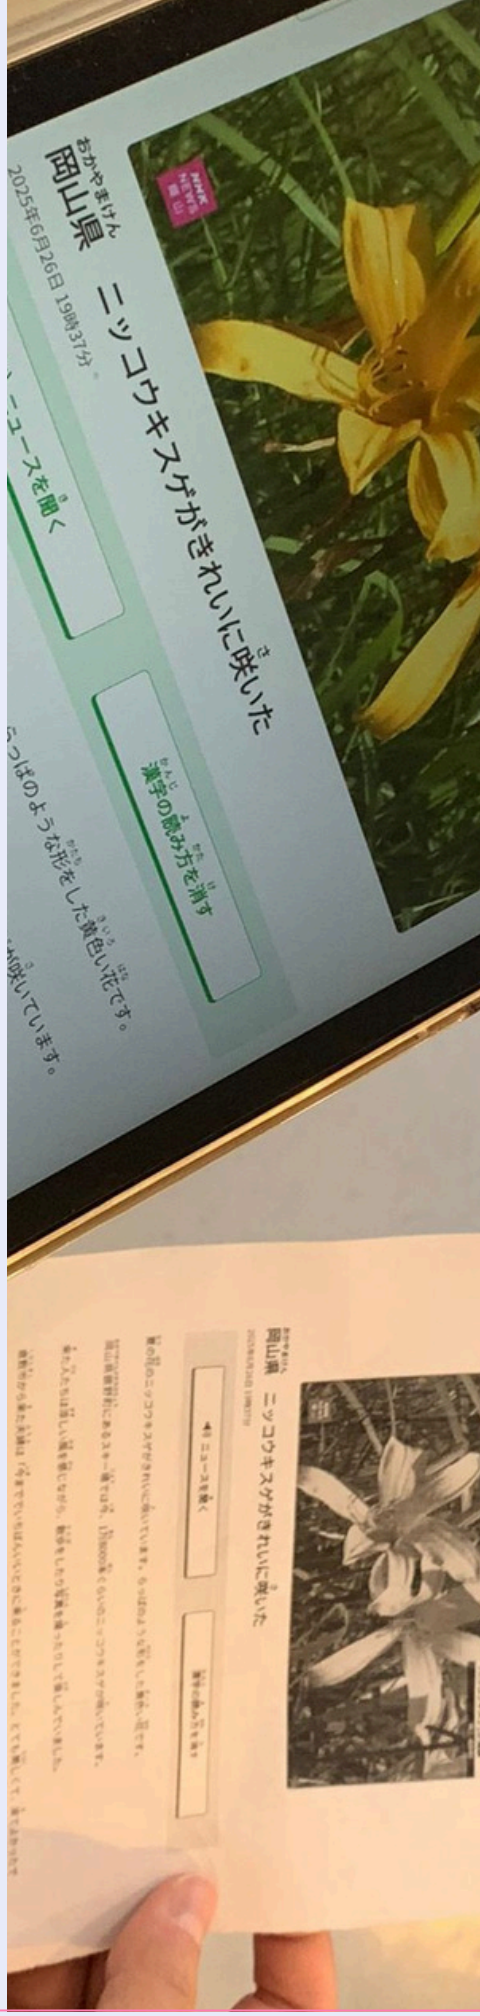
Third Quarter Activities (Q3)

This section of the report details all sessions conducted between July 1st and September 31st. It includes a comprehensive list of the texts read, their sources, and their respective Japanese language proficiency levels.



Third Quarter Activities (Q3)

July (In-Person Sessions)

The reading of Issun-bōshi continued through spaced sessions. For the in-person session, a change in format was introduced through a simplified news-reading activity about the blooming of Nikkōsuge flowers in Tokuyama Prefecture. The session combined collective listening, small-group analysis, and a concluding group discussion.

August (In-Person Session)

In August, a special games-based session was organized to motivate participants and enhance engagement. The session was conducted bilingually, in both Arabic and Japanese.
The activities included:

August (In-Person Session)

Snakes and Ladders, where players advanced by answering questions in Japanese, or in Arabic for participants who were not studying Japanese.
Word Acting Game, in which one member from each team acted out a word in Japanese, or a Japanese culture-related term in Arabic, while the rest of the team attempted to guess the correct answer.
Bingo, the main activity of the session, where numbers were replaced with Japanese vocabulary items. The session organizer randomly read out the meanings of the words, and the first participant to complete a straight line of five words was declared the winner. For younger or beginner-level participants, the words themselves were announced directly, and the fastest response determined the winner.

Third Quarter Activities (Q3)

September

The folktale Issun-bōshi was reviewed on September 6, following its initial reading earlier in the year and a postponement due to the examination period.
On September 20, the club began reading a new story from the same series and at the same difficulty level, titled Esugata Okusan, continuing the established graded reading progression.

September (In-Person Session)

On September 13, the in-person session featured the reading of これは何でしょう (What Could This Be?).
The reading was preceded by an interactive group activity in which participants were encouraged to predict the objects that would appear in the story and illustrate them using their own creative styles, before engaging with the text itself.
This preparatory activity helped activate prior knowledge, foster creativity, and increase engagement, creating a smooth transition into the reading and discussion of the story.

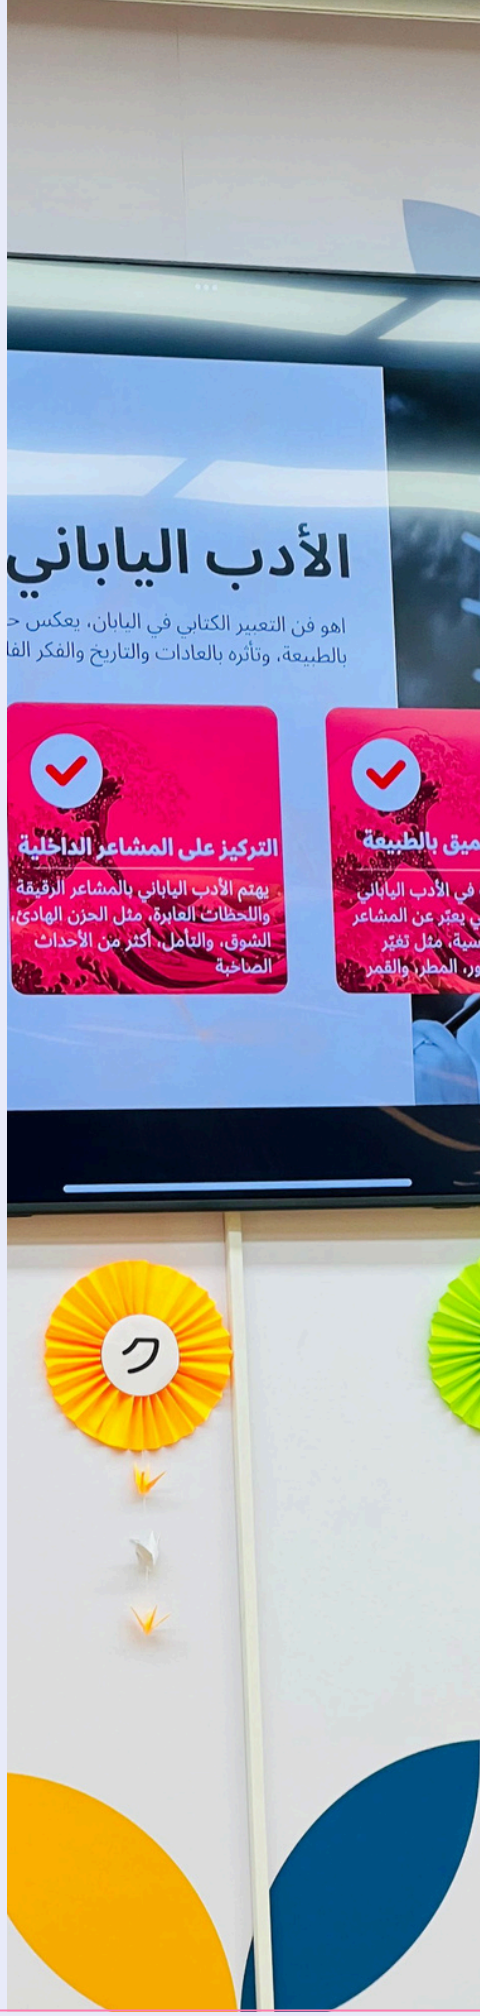
Fourth Quarter Activities (Q4)

This section of the report details all sessions conducted between October 1st and December 31st. It includes a comprehensive list of the texts read, their sources, and their respective Japanese language proficiency levels.



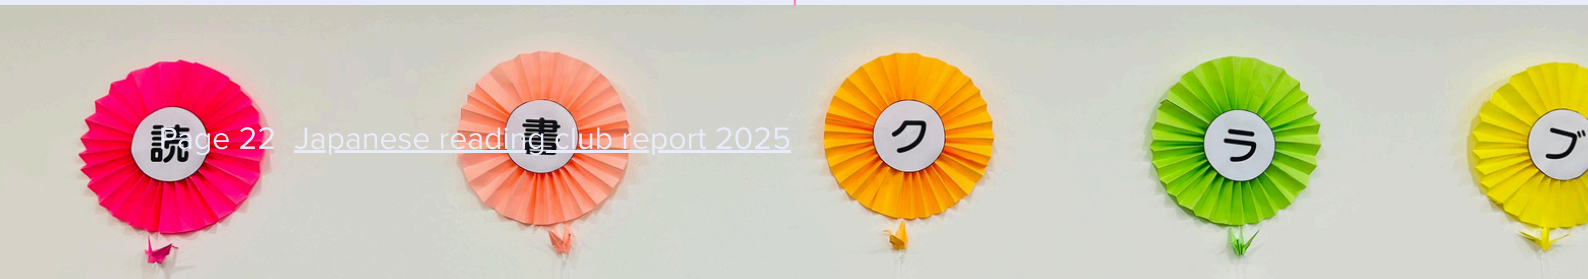
Fourth Quarter Activities (Q4)

October

On October 4, the story
絵姿奥さん (The Portrait Wife – Japanese Folktale)
was reviewed through an interactive, game-based session that included activities using Kahoot to enhance comprehension and engagement.
From October 18 to November 1, the club read:
おばあの うちなーぐち ～おきなわのことば～
(Grandmother's Uchināguchi – The Language of Okinawa)
Through this reading, participants were introduced to the Okinawan dialect (Uchināguchi), learned a variety of regional vocabulary, and explored the cultural and linguistic background of Okinawa.

October – In-person Sessions

During the in-person sessions, the first translated Japanese literary work discussed by the club was:
Before the Coffee Gets Cold
by Toshikazu Kawaguchi.
To support sensory and experiential engagement with the text, the session included:
Watching the official movie trailer adapted from the novel.
Preparing a miniature model of the café where the story takes place.
Designing and distributing themed bookmarks and stickers inspired by the novel.



Fourth Quarter Activities (Q4)

November

On November 15, the club began reading:
ロバの皮の女 (The Donkeyskin Woman)
a story translated from the work of the French author Charles Perrault.
This reading was part of the End-of-Year Reading Challenge and served as preparation for the higher-level December reading.
The reading sessions included:
Literary critique and guided discussion.
Analysis of events and characters.
Text-based discussion grounded in direct comprehension of the Japanese text.

November – In-person Sessions

On November 8, an in-person session was held introducing Japanese castles through reading the book:
にほんの城 (Japanese Castles)
in both Arabic and Japanese.

November – In-person Sessions

The session featured an interactive activity titled:
“Treasure Hunt: Japanese Castles”, which included:
Guided reading and discussion of the text.
Bilingual crossword challenges.
Kanji matching activities (meaning and reading).
A kanji writing challenge based on stroke-order clues given by a partner.
A Kahoot quiz focused on information from the reading.
Additionally:
Models of five Japanese castles were prepared out of the twelve original castles introduced in the book.
Diverse visual materials were designed to support learning.
Symbolic prizes were awarded to the winning participants.

Fourth Quarter Activities (Q4)

December

Starting on December 6 (ongoing), the club began reading:
まだらの紐 (The Speckled Band), a Sherlock Holmes story by Arthur Conan Doyle.
The story presented an enjoyable challenge for members, especially fans of Sherlock Holmes, Detective Conan, and mystery fiction, due to its investigative nature.
Alongside this reading, two simplified texts were read in parallel:
おきくさん (Okiku-san) — a rereading of a story previously read in the past year, on December 13.
おばあちゃんがいない (Grandma Is Missing) — a new reading session held on December 31.

December – In-person Sessions

An in-person introductory session on Japanese literature and its history was held under the title:
“A Window into Japanese Literature.”
The session covered the origins of the Japanese language and literature, the major historical and cultural influences shaping Japanese literary production, and an overview of key literary movements in Japan.

Participant Feedback & Evaluation

Survey Introduction & Results Overview

Introduction

As part of the annual evaluation of the Japanese Reading Club, an internal survey was conducted in November to assess the club's impact on members' learning experiences. The survey aimed to evaluate the extent to which the club supports Japanese language development, builds confidence in language use, and enhances cultural understanding through reading-based activities.

The survey focused on four main areas: vocabulary and grammar development, confidence and communication skills, cultural understanding, and the overall learning experience within the club. It also included general background questions and an open-ended section allowing participants to share personal reflections.

A total of 18 members participated in the survey (out of 40), and their responses provided valuable insights into the club's strengths and areas for future improvement.

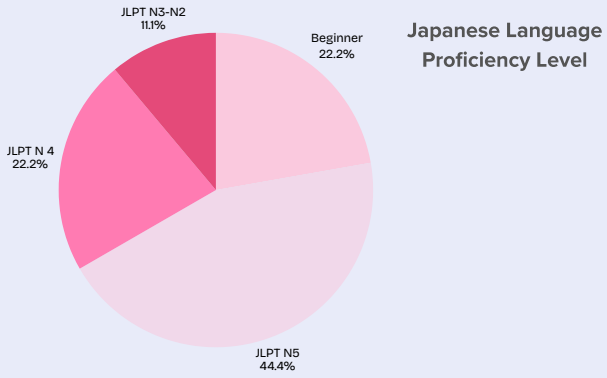
Overview of Results

Overall, the survey results indicate consistently positive outcomes associated with participation in the Reading Club. Most respondents reported noticeable improvements in vocabulary acquisition, text comprehension, and confidence in reading and speaking Japanese.

In addition, the findings highlight the club's significant role in enhancing cultural awareness and encouraging thoughtful comparisons between Japanese culture and participants' own cultural backgrounds, within a supportive and interactive learning environment.
The following sections present the detailed findings using descriptive analysis and visual representations to illustrate key trends.

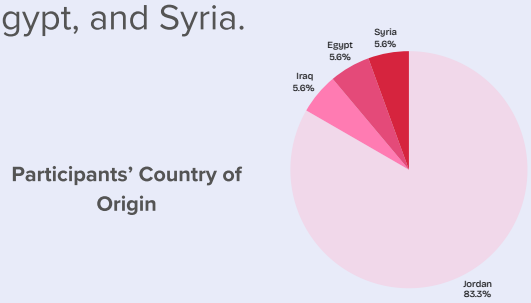
Participant Profile

Eighteen members participated in the survey. Most respondents were at beginner to lower-intermediate Japanese proficiency levels (primarily JLPT N5 and N4), with limited representation from higher levels.



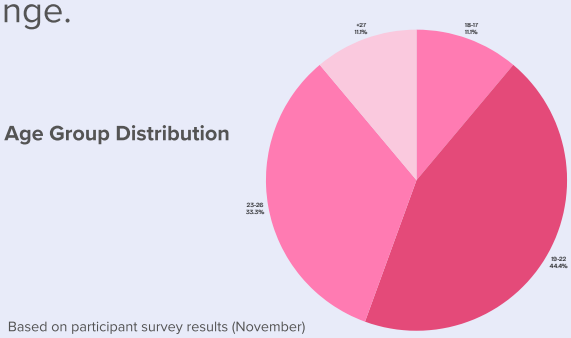
Based on participant survey results (November)

The majority of participants were from Jordan, with additional representation from Iraq, Egypt, and Syria.



Based on participant survey results (November)

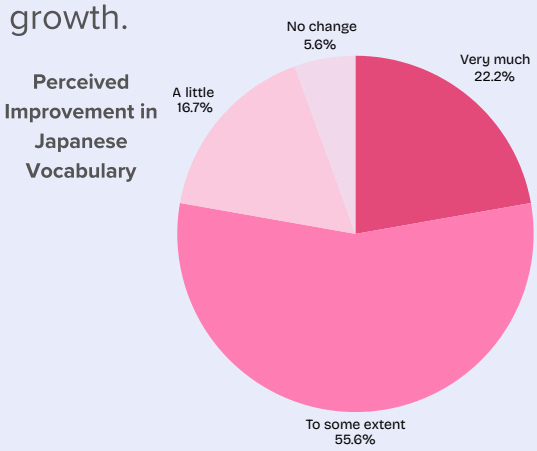
Most respondents fell within the 19–26 age range.



Based on participant survey results (November)

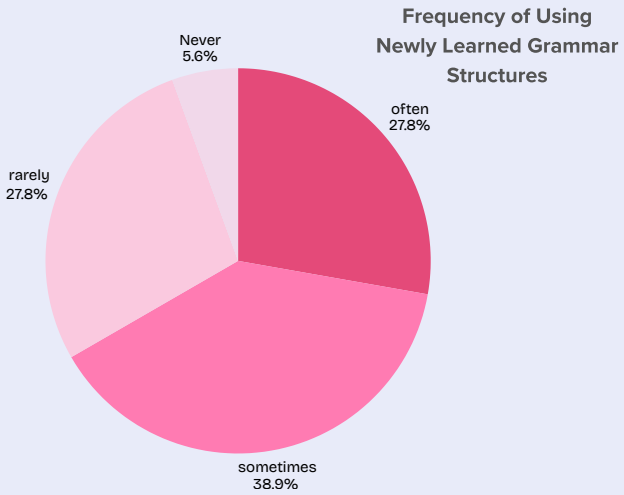
Language Development

Most participants reported noticeable improvement in Japanese vocabulary after joining the reading club, with the majority indicating moderate to significant growth.



Based on participant survey results (November)

Respondents generally agreed that the reading materials introduced useful vocabulary and supported understanding of grammatical structures in natural contexts. Application of newly learned grammar varied, reflecting different levels of confidence and practice.

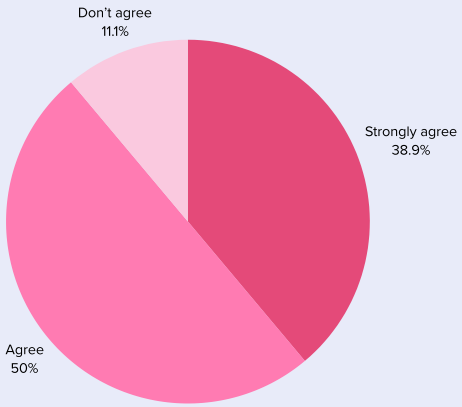


Based on participant survey results (November)

Confidence & Communication

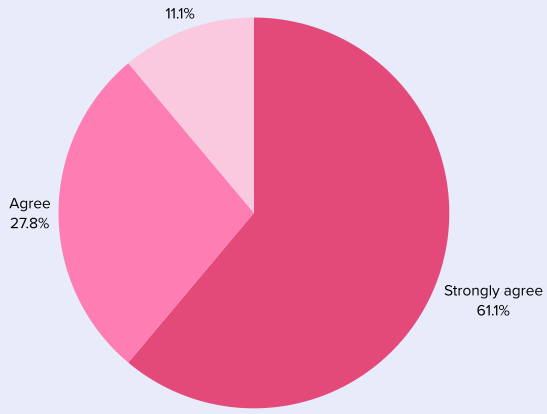
Participants largely reported increased confidence when speaking Japanese, along with improvements in pronunciation and fluency through reading aloud and group discussions.

Confidence in Speaking Japanese



Based on participant survey results (November)

Perceived Improvement in Pronunciation and Fluency



Based on participant survey results (November)

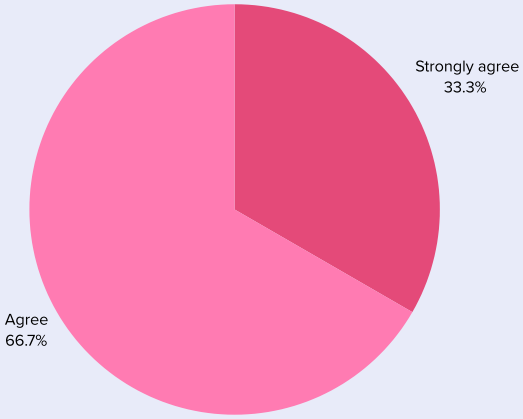
Cultural Understanding

Survey responses indicate a strong impact on cultural awareness. Participants reported learning about Japanese culture and daily life through texts and discussions, and many felt more comfortable comparing cultural similarities and differences respectfully.

Learning Experience & Overall Impact

Participants responded positively to the variety and level of reading materials used in the club. Nearly all respondents reported overall improvement in their Japanese language ability, as well as increased motivation to continue learning beyond club sessions.

Overall Perceived Improvement in Japanese Language Ability



Based on participant survey results (November)

Qualitative Feedback (Summary)

Open-ended responses highlighted increased confidence, stronger vocabulary retention, improved reading ability, and a supportive, engaging learning environment.

Conclusion

The November survey (18 respondents out of 40) indicates that the Reading Club makes a measurable contribution to members' language development, cultural understanding, and motivation. Predominantly serving beginner to lower-intermediate learners (N5–N4), the club's varied reading materials, aloud reading exercises, and group discussions were commonly reported to increase vocabulary, improve comprehension, boost speaking confidence, and enhance pronunciation and fluency. The readings also deepened cultural awareness and encouraged considered cultural comparisons.

Although the sample size is limited, the results present consistent trends that validate the club's reading-based approach within a supportive, organizer-led setting. Variation in members' use of newly learned structures in active production (speaking/writing) points to an opportunity to strengthen practical application activities.

Brief recommendations for the coming year:

1. Maintain diverse reading material (novels, manga, translations) and fine-tune difficulty to suit the majority.
2. Add focused application activities enabling members to use new structures orally and in writing (regular drills, partner exchanges, short writing tasks).
3. Introduce brief pronunciation/fluency sessions with constructive feedback (guided read-alouds, audio models, gentle group correction).
4. Increase response rates for future surveys for broader representation

In summary, the Reading Club provides an effective and enjoyable local model for learning Japanese. The current findings demonstrate a positive impact; with modest adjustments to enhance practical practice and member engagement, the club can further increase its reach and effectiveness in the coming years.

Supplementary Feedback & Supporting Materials

This section presents supplementary materials that support the findings discussed in the evaluation. It includes selected participant feedback collected through surveys and in-person sessions, as well as screenshots of survey responses for reference. These materials are provided in their original form to preserve authenticity and are intended to complement the summarized and analyzed results presented in the main sections of the report.

بصراحة النادي ساعدني بعدّة طرق منها : - صار عندي ثقة اكبر في القراءة وقل عندي التوتر سواءً في النقاش او في ممارسة اللغة من ناحية القراءة. -زادت عندي المفردات بطريقة صارت ثابته اكثر من لما بتعلم ذاتياً. -نادي القراءة حفّز عندي فكرة تعلّم اللغة و ساعدني على الإستمرارية - وطبعاً اكيد الكتب الي ناقشناها زادت من فهمنا للثقافة بشكل بحيث بعضها كان يتحدث عن اما اللهجات او الاكلات او القلاع و غيرها و كانت طريقة السرد ممتعة و جذابة جداً للمستمع والمشاهد.

تعلمت مفردات جديدة و قواعد جديدة من خلال قصص او مانجا

أصبحت أفهم المعنى العام للنصوص بشكل أفضل وتحسنت سرعتي في القراءة

بالتوفيق الكم يا رب وان شاء الله اصير اقدر اشارك معكم اكتر واكتر 💚💚

ساعدني على تركيب الكلمات وصياغتها بالطريقة المناسبة في الوقت المناسب وساعدني على كيفية معرفة أساسيات اللغة وأن هنالك أكثر من صيغة وحركة وتفاعل يعبر عن موقف واحد

الطف نادي اجواء إيجابية تشعرك بالراحة على التفاعل ثم التشجع لتقدم لمستوى من حولي

نادي القراءة ساعدني أطور لغتي اليابانية. لما كنا نقرأ ونحكي عن القصص، صرت أفهم كلمات جديدة وأفهم الجمل أسرع. ومن خلال القصص تعلّمت أشياء أكثر عن الثقافة اليابانية. كانت تجربة مفيدة وسهلة.

التعرف على المفردات الجديدة وطريقة تفكيرهم واختلاف الثقافة بين مقاطعات اليابان نفسها

رغم انني لم احضر الا بعض الحصص القليله ولكن حقا استطيع ان اقر انها تجربه ممتعه ومفيده تعمل على تطوير الكثير من النواحي لمتعلمين اللغه و احب ان اشكر كل من عمل على قيام وإنشاء هذا النادي ❤️🥹

موجوده بالقلب من الامتنان والتقدير لحظرتكم . لكن لا ان اكتبها مره واحده بارك الله بكم

التحدث إلى أشخاص يتكلمون اللغة اليابانية منحني الشجاعه على الإستمرار في اللغه اليابانيه وتحسين مستواي الحالي.

ساعدني النادي بسرعة القراءة خصوصا بالنصوص المكتوبة عمودياً وتطورت قرائتي بشكل عام حيث انها مهارة ليست موجدة في حياتي اليومية بالاضافة انه يبقي حبل وصل بيني وبين اللغة اليابانية لممارستها بشكل عفوي وممتع حتى في انشغالي وهو شيء امتن له جدا

اشعر ان من اول ما دخلت النادي وانا استمتع وفي نفس الوقت أستفيد واقرأ كلمات اول مرة بشوفها واتعلم اشياء

Conclusion of the Report

The Japanese Language Club has achieved significant growth in membership and active participation over the past months, reflecting the community's passion for learning the Japanese language and culture.

The diverse sessions, from book discussions to educational games, have helped enhance members' interaction and develop their language skills in an enjoyable and engaging way. Social media and the support of members have also played an important role in raising the club's awareness and attracting new members from various Arab nationalities.

Looking forward, we aim to continue providing enriching learning experiences, expand the range of activities to include more interactive workshops, and maintain an open and welcoming environment for all those interested in the Japanese language and culture.

Club Founder – Mais Dabour

Personal Background:
I am a graduate of Medical Laboratory Sciences and have been learning the Japanese language and culture for three years, continually nurturing my passion for learning through reading and consistent practice.

Role in the Club:
I am responsible for leading and organizing the club's educational sessions, which include reading Japanese texts, cultural discussions, and interactive language games, with the aim of providing a rich and enjoyable learning experience for members.

Vision and Goals:
Through the club, I strive to:
Support members in developing their Japanese language skills in an effective and enjoyable way.
Build an interactive and motivating community that brings together those interested in the Japanese language and culture.
Promote a passion for Japanese culture through innovative activities and enriching educational sessions.

I believe that learning becomes more impactful when it is a shared, collaborative experience, infused with curiosity and a love for exploration.
